

Dear Colleague:

With only nineteen days left until Election Day, House Democrats must come together again to maintain our Majority by ensuring that the American people know how much we have done—and can still do—for them in Congress. Reporting last week indicated that about 70% of the GOP nominees for Congress have denied or questioned the legitimacy of President Biden's victory in 2020. A House Republican majority this divorced from reality and basic facts would be a clear and present danger to our democracy and the rule of law.

Once again, I urge my colleagues to pay their dues to the DCCC. If, for example, all our non-Frontline members contributed 10% of their cash on hand, it would amount to almost an additional $23 million that we could use to protect and expand our Majority. With Speaker Pelosi's generous pledge to match member contributions to the DCCC, that $23 million would double overnight.

Having traveled to fifty-seven districts across twenty-six states so far this election cycle, I have seen the determination and energy of our Frontline incumbents and Red to Blue candidates firsthand. They can win, but only if they have the resources to do so. Today I am sending another $100,000 to the DCCC which will bring me 30% above my dues goal.

If you also believe our democracy is imperiled and seek to remain in the majority next Congress, paying your dues is imperative. These dangerous times necessitate that none of us hold back resources. Together, we will prevail on Election Day so we can continue delivering results for the American people and creating opportunities for them to Make It In America.

Sincerely,
